Mrs. Norris Named Senior G.O.P. Chairman

The appointment of Mrs. Daisy Norris of 809 Michigan Avenue in Grayling to the post of Republican Senior Citizens county chairman was announced today by Ernest Johnson of Highland, State GOP Senior Citizens chapters operating in Michigan.

Commenting on the appointment, Johnson remarked, "We are proud to have such an able person organizing our Senior Citizens operation in this area. The organization of others older persons a forum from which they can effectively work for worthwhile programs that will solve the problems facing senior citizens today."

Johnson said that the local area appointment is indicative of the favorable response that the Romney-Republican legislative program for senior citizens has generated among Michigan's older people.

An especially popular proposal, according to Johnson, is the Michigan GOP platform pledge to work for reasonable real estate property tax relief for persons over 65 who are living on fixed incomes.

Johnson said that the aim of the local chapters in this election year will be to integrate senior citizens into regular campaign activities, from which some of the older persons have withdrawn, under the mistaken impression that their age was a handicap.

SET SPECIAL TROUT FISHING REGULATIONS

LANSING—Acting for the first time under authority of a new law, the Conservation Commission last week set special trout fishing regulations on about 31 miles of the Ausable river in Crawford and Oscoda counties.

Through this act passed in 1964, which permits the establishment of these controls on up to 100 miles of streams in Michigan, flies-only fishing was designated with a minimum size limit of 10 inches and a daily creel limit of five trout for a 16.4 mile section of the river's South Branch in Crawford county.

Actually, there will be no change in regulations on this part of the stream because these same controls have been in effect there for several years as an experiment.

A new area to come under special regulations is a 14.2 mile stretch of the Ausable's Main Stream in Oscoda county, where fishing will be confined to using artificial lures only. Along with this go a minimum size limit of 12 inches and a daily creel quota of two trout.

Leading into its action on the special trout fishing regulations, the Commission received a proposed policy statement outlining the philosophy behind them and the criteria for selecting streams where these measures can be best applied.

Dr. Howard A. Tanner, new chief of the Conservation Department's fish section, said these special regulations fit into the concept of "quality" fishing which is gaining ground on "quantity" fishing as a guideline to modern-day fish management.

Township Voters To Get Four Ballots, City Voters Three

Officers, Non-Partisan, Referendum Ballots
For All. Also Township Officers

Next Tuesday, November 3, 1964 is the day for the regular fall election. Voters in Crawford County will get at least three ballots and those in the townships of the county will get a fourth ballot.

All Crawford County electors will vote on the Partisan officers ballot headed by the Presidential and Vice Presidential candidates for the various parties and continuing on down through State officers, Congressional and Legislative choices as well as County officers. They will also vote on the Non-Partisan ballot which contains six candidates for three seats on the new Court of Appeals as well as the candidate for Probate Judge of Crawford County. The third ballot is a referendum ballot on which voters will indicate their preference for or against the so-called Massachusetts type ballot. Voters in the townships will receive a fourth ballot on which to vote for township officers. Election of municipal officers in the City of Grayling will be later in a separate election.

The Partisan-Ballot contains candidates for office from five different political parties, the Democratic, Republican, Socialist Workers, Socialist Labor and the new Freedom Now party. All offer candidates for President and Vice President except the last named party.

The Democratic ticket offers Lyndon B. Johnson and Hubert H. Humphrey for President and Vice President with Barry Goldwater and William E. Miller, the Republican candidates. For Governor, the Democrats offer Neil Staebler with Robert A. Derengoski for Lieutenant Governor. The Republican candidates are incumbent George Romney for Governor and William G. Milliken for Lieutenant Governor. James Hare, incumbent Secretary of State and Frank J. Kelly, incumbent Attorney General are the Democratic candidates for reelection. They are opposed on the Republican ticket by Allison Green and Meyer Warshawsky, respectively. Incumbent United States Senator Philip A. Hart is the Democratic candidate for reelection. He is opposed by Ely M. Peterson, Republican candidate. Incumbent Elford A. Cederberg, Republican Congressman faces the challenge of Hubert C. Evans, Democratic candidate. Guy Vander Jagt is the Republican candidate for the State Senate. He is opposed by Eugene J. Gershon, Democratic candidate. Nelson G. Tisdale, incumbent State Representative is the Republican candidate and is opposed by Earl T. Miller, the Democratic candidate.

Democratic candidates for the State Board of Education for terms of various lengths are: Donald M. D. Thurber, Leon Fill, Carmen L. Delliquadri, Marilyn Jean Kelly, Peter Oppewall, Thomas J. Brennan, Charles E. Morton and Edwin L. Novak. Opposing them as Republican candidates are: Ellen M. Solomonson, Karla Parker, Boukwe Lodewyk, Joyce Hutton, Robert P. Briggs, John C. Kruger, Alvin M. Bentley, James E. O'Neill. Republican candidates for board of Trustees of Michigan State University are: John S. Pingel and Paul D. Bagwell. Their Democratic opponents are: Frank Hartman and Clair White. Democratic candidates for Board of Governors of Wayne State University are: William B. Hall and Benjamin M. Rose. Their Republican opponents are: Charles Gershenson and Wilber M. Brucker Jr.

On the County level only one race exists. That is for the office of Crawford County Sheriff. Republican incumbent Arthur F. Clough is being challenged by Democratic candidate, Harold O. Duncan, Beaver Creek restaurant operator. Other county office incumbents seeking re-election unopposed are: Prosecuting Attorney Ward F. Ellison, County Clerk Leo E. Lovely, County Treasurer Claribel Gos and County Coroner Derek McEvers, all on the Republican ticket and Register of Deeds Lawrence Hunter on the Democratic ticket.

Listed on the Non-Partisan ballot seeking the three posts on the newly created Court of Appeals are: Maurice Black, Robert B. Burns, Austin J. Doyle, John W. Fitzgerald, Donald E. Holbrook and Allen C. Miller, also on the same ballot running unopposed for Crawford County Judge of Probate Court is Emil L. Kraus, Grayling attorney.

Due to the wide spread interest in this year's race for President of the United States plus the local race for the Sheriff's post, a record turnout of Crawford County voters is expected. Balloting in the City of Grayling will be held for both precincts at the Grayling High School gym and in the townships at the various townships halls. Polls will open at 7 a. m. in the morning and will continue open all day until 8 p. m. in the evening.

The annual grade Halloween parade will be held this Friday at 1 p. m. The Grayling High School Band will lead the line of march, made up of children from the kindergarten through sixth grade in that order, all dressed in their costumes. The line of march will be from the new elementary school completely around the hospital, then down ONawa street to Plum, left on Plum back to Michigan avenue, thence back to the school.

K-12 STUDY GROUP REPORT

A report on the K-12 Reorganization Act (Senate Bill No. 1080 now known as Act 289 of the Public Acts of 1964).

As provided by the Act the committee for the Crawford County Intermediate District has been elected or appointed as follows:

Elected by the Primary District Boards of Education on September 10, 1964 — Barbara Bloomer, Pat Fowler, Dorothy Stephan, Earl Woods and Irene Wyman.

Elected by the High School District Boards of Education on September 23, 1964 — James Baker, Jerome Kessler, James Madill, Arthur Mayer and Melvin Nielson.

Appointed by the Crawford County Board of Education on October 1, 1964 — LeRoy Millikin, Roy Papenfus and Norvall Stephan.

Appointed by the Judge of Probate on October 2, 1964 — Cecil Canfield, Hazel Koernke, Ace Leng, Lacey Stephan and Gordon Thompson.

It will be necessary for those elected or appointed to meet and elect a secretary and become organized as a committee. They are to follow a Procedure Guide as provided by the State Committee (a committee of 7 appointed by the Governor) and prepare a plan that "shall provide for the reorganization of the school districts within the intermediate district so that all areas of the district may become part of a school district operating or designed to operate at least 12 grades".

As South Branch Township is part of the Roscommon School District the school districts that the Committee will be concerned with are Frederic, Grayling No. 1, Grayling No. 3 and Beaver Creek No. 1.

Although it would be possible for the group to hold an organizational meeting any time now, it is thought that it would be better to wait until a little later in care the State Committee would have time to prepare the Procedure Guide.

An Historical Election . . .

Every political campaign involves a series of questions — questions that can only be answered, if they are answered at all, by the voters at the polls. That is true this year as in all campaign years. But now there is a difference. The big questions being presented to the electorate cut deep indeed. They go to the roots of our institutions, traditions, beliefs and wants. They involve matters of such profound importance as the powers of government; the responsibilities of individuals; the obligations and rights of the states; all manner of welfare activities and proposals; the relationship of the citizen with those who govern him.

Then, from a purely political point of view, this year's election may bring about realignments of and shifts in the power structure of far-reaching significance. It certainly looks now as if the old Democratic hold on the South has been badly shaken — the commentators generally agree that Senator Goldwater will make heavy inroads there. On the other side, the Democrats seem to be making headway in the Middle West, once a Republican stronghold.

We hear much of the defections that are supposed to be taking place with conservative Democrats flocking to the GOP standard for the first time and with liberal Republicans looking favorably on Mr. Johnson. But the biggest question of them all, politically speaking, is whether or not the Goldwater thesis, on which his whole campaign is built, is true. That thesis simply holds that vast numbers of Americans are opposed to the direction the federal government has taken, ever since the New Deal days, and that now, for the first time in all these years, they will have the chance to make their desires known. The polls, the Goldwater spokesmen say, do not adequately reach these voters and so will be proven massively in error.

Certain elements, whose possible effect is anyone's guess now, are new this year and add still another question mark to the situation. They are the result of the civil-rights controversy and the new law. This, it can be argued, should not be a political issue, and both the candidates seem to feel that way. But it will inevitably have its influence — possibly even a decisive influence. An example is the attitude of labor. The national leaders are solidly for the President. But whether that will bring him the unanimous vote of all union members is another and very different matter.

Writing in The Reporter, A. H. Raskin of The New York Times deals with this. To quote him, "... private polls taken under union auspices in several Northern centers indicate that the white backlash against Negro pressure for faster integration draws much of its strength from rank-and-file unionists in the mass-production industries as well as from those in the exclusionist skilled trades . . . a poll in one large Teamster local in New York showed a 7-3 margin for the Republican Presidential nominee, with civil rights as a major factor". Workers fear that the fair employment provision of the Civil Rights Act threatens their job security, wage levels, seniority provisions, and other gains and privileges. Union heads, among others, are now trying to dissipate this fear.

Finally, this is a campaign with a deep emotional content. Feeling, not just thinking, runs high on both sides. That has not often been the case in the past.

Organization work to launch the Food Stamp Plan for distribution of American farm products in Crawford county around the 20th of November was started October 15, 1941, at conferences in Grayling between Surplus Marketing administration representatives, the local and state welfare departments, and food merchants of the county. The plan moves additional farm products, most of which are produced right here in the Middle West, through the regular channels of trade into the hands of persons receiving public assistance who need more food and better balanced diets. Sunday, twenty-four members of the local football squad with Coach Cornell and Mr. Goss journeyed to Detroit to witness the Detroit-Lions-Griffin Packers football game. After a rather hectic journey downstate marred by some tire trouble, the squad arrived at Briggs stadium just as the second half started.

$273,000 For Excise Taxes In Crawford County

(Special to the Avalanche)
NEW YORK — A thorough-going reduction in Federal excise taxes, which cost residents of Crawford County some $273,000 last year, is now in the works.

The House Ways and Means Committee has started hearings toward that end. The Treasury Department is conducting its own study and will have specific recommendations ready to present to Congress when it reconvenes.

These taxes, which amounted to more than $14 billion in the past year, are levied on a wide variety of products and services that are in common use.

They include luggage, telephone calls, fishing rods, bowling alleys, matches, fountain pens, playing cards, cigars and cigarettes, air conditioners, automobiles, electric light bulbs, sporting goods, amusements, liquor, cosmetics and innumerable others.

Many of them date back to World War days, when it was necessary to raise huge amounts of money for the war effort. The resultant accumulation of excise taxes constitute, in the words of Treasury Secretary Douglas Dillon, a "hodge-podge" that is in need of thorough overhaul.

Collections of such taxes in Crawford County last year were at the estimated rate of $182 per local family.

This was more than in many sections of the country, where incomes were lower and the rate of spending was correspondingly lower.

From Crawford County as a whole, the Government received approximately $273,000 in such taxes in 1963. Throughout the state of Michigan, it came to $604,520,000.

Some excise taxes are collected directly when purchases are made in retail stores. A much larger amount is produced for the Government by manufacturers' excise taxes. These are hidden taxes as far as the consumer is concerned.

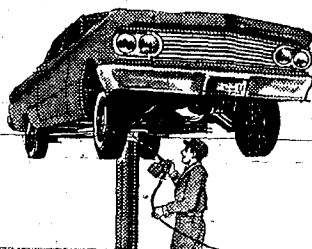

They are collected at the point of manufacture and are passed along to him in the price of goods he buys.

The push for revision of these excise taxes, which are often called "nuisance taxes," has come from retailers, manufacturers, consumers and from many Congressmen.

The plans call for the elimination of some of them and the reduction of others.

HAROLD O. DUNCAN
For Crawford County
SHERIFF

HAROLD DUNCAN SAYS....

Following is a report of a Sheriff from a neighboring county as published in The Houghton Lake Resorter.

If elected, I propose to operate the Crawford County Sheriff's office as does Sheriff Oliver Britton of Roscommon County.

Sheriff Britton Reports Department Activities During Past Eight Months

Court fines resulting from 1,164 sheriff's cases successfully prosecuted this year through August have totaled $14,478.50 which was received into the county general fund. Sheriff Oliver Britton reported this week.

The report which was submitted to the Board of Supervisors indicates a decrease in sheriff calls to police traffic accidents compared to 1963. The department policed 82 accidents during the eight months period. In 1963 the number of accidents was reported to be 182.

Most common arrest cause in traffic cases was speeding, with 147 drivers issued traffic tickets for that offense. Leading all complaints in liquor law violations was the charge of minors in possession with 263 persons charged with this offense.

The department made a total of 124 arrests on warrants issued by courts. Of this number 72 were warrants issued in this county and 52 from other counties.

During the eight months, the sheriff's department transported 118 prisoners. There were no jury trials arising out of sheriff's cases during the period.

In his capacity as examiner and issuing officer for motor vehicle operator's licenses, the sheriff issued a total of 1,672 licenses and conducted 243 written tests and road tests. Operator license statistics were as follows: original licenses, 181; renewals, 1,060; chauffeur, 260; duplicate 37; change of address, 92.

In traffic matters the sheriff reported 44 cases of faulty equipment, 32 improper starts, 29 reckless driving, 16 vehicle not under control, 11 improper turns, 18 failure to yield, 3 failure to report accident, 25 driving on revoked or suspended license, 7 wrong way on highway, 15 improper passing, 12 parkings in prohibited area, 7 driving under influence of intoxicants, 7 leaving scene of accident, 9 no registration or plates on vehicle, 5 permitting unlicensed driver to drive, and 1 driving with obscured vision.

In liquor law enforcement, the sheriff's department brought charges against 26 defendants for drinking on public highway, 203 minors in possession, 35 minors attempting to purchase, 21 furnishing to minors, 61 drunk and disorderly.

Five stolen cars were recovered.

GENERAL ELECTION — NOVEMBER 3, 1964

Few Complaints Registered In September Primary Election

OVERCOME PROBLEMS

Variety from the norm often tends to instill new alertness in workers and such seems to have been the case in Michigan's Sept. 1 primary election.

State elections officials in Lansing received fewer complaints about precinct worker's errors than in any election in recent memory. This was despite, or perhaps because of, the many changes in districts, several new precinct alignments and the record number of people entered in primary contests.

Local elections officers were credited with doing a tremendous job by Secretary of State James M. Hare, whose department handles the polling problems.

Hare termed the job which faced local people as "one of the toughest and most complicated in Michigan's history."

One member of the state elections office staff said it appeared more local workers were on their toes because they faced new problems. Working with the same districts year after year, some workers apparently were in a routine which lent itself to error but the changes broke this routine.

Still another, more crucial test faces local election workers. Nov. 3 when the new districts will again be used, more people will be voting and in many cases the ballot will be extremely long.

Many people voting in machine districts will face a double-machine ballot or a paper ballot in addition to the machine.

Along with the Presidential, gubernatorial, U. S. Senatorial, Congressional and State Legislative races, voters will decide on three members of the new State Court of Appeals, a referendum question and in many cases local officers and proposals.

SCHOLARSHIP AWARDS

Nearly 1,300 Michigan high school graduates were selected to be the first winners under the state college scholarship program, splitting $500,000 in funds.

More than five times this number applied for the state funds. Some 3,000 of them could have qualified for scholarships if more money was available, said Superintendent of Public Instruction Lynn M. Bartlett.

The law enacted by the Legislature creating the program specified winners should be chosen on the basis of academic ability and financial need.

Distinction was further limited by a requirement that three scholarships go to each of the State Senate and House Districts. The remainder were awarded among applicants from the state at large.

Final awards averaged $400, although the Legislature placed an $800 maximum on each scholarship, Bartlett said. The grants cover tuition and academic fees, but not dormitory charges or other fees at Michigan colleges and universities.

Application replies from the 1,292 winners indicated most planned to attend four-year institutions. About 100 indicated they intended to study at junior or community colleges, Bartlett said.

With legislative approval to double the appropriation next year, each of the 1964 winners who maintain at least a "C" average could have their grant renewed and another $500,000 would be available for 1965 high school graduates.

Supporters of the scholarship plan in the Legislature this year tried to get an original appropriation of $2 million for the program. Bartlett implied there would be attempts next year to get more than the $1 million for the program. "Some 3,500 of our applicants this year were fully qualified by test score and demonstrated real financial need," he said. "If these youngsters can find no other means of help and are denied the higher education of which they are fully capable and want, we are wasting valuable human resources."

LIGHT UP

Continuation of the year-old "Lights On for Safety" campaign in Michigan appears a certainty. During the Fourth of July holiday, State Safety Commission members reported that 40 per cent of the cars on major trunklines spot checked had lights on during the day.

This was greater than the Memorial Day participation, they said. Over Labor Day the number of daytime drivers with their lights on again increased, to nearly 50 per cent.

"This is an excellent showing but to be really successful we ought to have every one of the many thousands of cars on the road cooperating in the program," said Safety Commission Executive Secretary Gerald Shipman.

The idea behind the lights-on campaign, said Gov. George Romney, is "to focus attention on all drivers that they must stay mentally alert and drive safely" as

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Editor's Note — This is part of a letter received from John Stephen in Anchorage Alaska.

Oct. 13, 1964

Dear Mom and Dad and family

While waiting for my name to be called here at the State Employment Office I'll jot off a few lines, who knows it may take all afternoon.

I arrived in Palmer Saturday night and planned to go to church there Sunday morning but the little group there is just about gone and what few are left weren't holding a meeting. I came on to Anchorage for the evening and had quite a time finding brother Clinefelter. The town has really changed but I do remember some of it, streets and all. For looking at it you would not know there was a disaster here last spring.

We haven't had any snow yet and it got down to 20 degrees for the first time Sunday night. They still had green gardens and flowers when I got to Palmer. It has been a nice Indian summer.

While I was in Yukon territory I caught 10 nice grayling ranging from 14" to 20". It was a pretty little stream that ran somewhat parallel to the highway so I placed the canoe and gear up stream about a mile and parked the truck down where the river edged the road. Then I walked back to the canoe and before I got in I caught a 15" grayling I could see laying in the middle of the stream. Man were they thick except where the river and road came close together, there, they were scared or caught out. It started to rain when I started fishing so I only fished about an hour. Also that same day I saw 12 rabbits as I drove along the highway. They were white.

Praise the Lord the highway was in good shape until I hit the pavement in Alaska and it is full of dips. If you try to go over 25 m.p.h. it about bounces your equipment off the road if you have any load at all.

While Dan was still with me we had one bit of trouble as the trailer wheel on the left side wore loose, and when it did it evidently continued to turn in the wheel cover housing or (fender well) until I slowed up, then it caught the brace to the rear of the fender well and bent that up and continued on back, breaking up through the floor before it rolled free and across the road into the ditch. It did not cause the truck to sway much as it came to a halt, riding on the spring which acted as a ski. We were able to secure a new hub in town and my truck wheels fit it good so I didn't have to buy a new wheel. Certainly the Lord blessed us there.

The next day after leaving Dan off I had another minor accident that could have been real bad. The trailer jumped loose when I hit a sudden bump in the road. It was in town and there seemed to be a lot of traffic. Fortunately I was driving slow, somehow the safety chains both came unhooked too. Anyway the trailer went skidding along on its front endjack and skidded to a halt on the right side of the street up against the curb. All I had to do was hook on again and take off. This time putting a padlock in the safety hole on the hitch latch. You have a special deal for that — on your trailer hitch-latch. Here again I could only praise God for his goodness. Afterwards I got looking at the back of the trailer and there were two dents about the size of a quarter and just barely dented in where someone must have bumped it when it broke loose or just before, causing the situation. I thought the man who pulled into a station right there looked kind of sheepish or guilty like he was waiting for me to say something to him but must have realized I didn't know what happened, as heavy as the truck was loaded it was hard to feel the trailer.

I got a letter from Dan Babbitt and he said Hank Feldhauser drowned. Do you know any particulars?

While writing this letter I got several prospects for jobs. One working in a hardware at $600 per month. Below carpenters wage though. Carpenter and sign work runs from $600 to $1,000 per month. It's no problem to get sign work so I'm still holding out for a job that takes me away from the paint. There's lots of church work as there is a building fund drive on the move here also. The Pastor is Bro. Clinefelter and he is sure a go getter.

I just finished making and eating a good stew for supper so you see I wrote this in relays as I started it in the employment office.

Christ truly is our savior and defender and I know he is watching over you.

Love in Christ Jesus
John

Attend The Church Of Your Choice

OUR NEW LAND

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Forty-three acres! How long we labored, hoping someday to add it to our modest farm.

Good bottom land... with a grove for the children to play in, a stream with an old swimmin' hole, and rich soil just begging for the plow.

Now it's ours! A great moment... full of promise... fraught with challenge.

Sort of like that moment a few years ago when Peg and I became members of the congregation. Before that the church had been simply a familiar scene along the border of our lives. Suddenly it became our church.

And there was that deep sense of partnership with God... full of promise... fraught with challenge.

There is such an abundant harvest of blessing and happiness to be reaped in life... if a man yearns for the best, and claims it for his own, and is ready to put his hand to the plow.

PONY TALES

By JANET W. OLSON

Today was my "going calling" day. I look forward to these visiting days and try to find things and places that I think will be of interest to all of you too. This morning I decided to call on the Sky Valley Ranch, although it is out of Crawford County it's such a pretty and short drive into Kalkaska County and since it's a drive we all take often it seemed like a good idea to check in to Sky Valley. If you drive out of Grayling on M-72 turn right on the Mancelona road, drive to the four corners road and turn left. From there it's only about half a mile before you turn right and find the ranch. It's well marked and a nice drive.

I was greeted by a beautiful German Shepherd dog and then met Bill Hickman, the manager of Sky Valley, who with his "right hand" man Marvin Curry live in quarters on the ranch.

The ranch is owned by Bob Holliday and Paul McDowell of Ann Arbor. The 430 acres were carefully chosen by these men as they wanted the perfect location for a guest ranch. When the site was decided upon the building plans were started and the first buildings were ready in May. A section of the motel is ready for guests and will be enlarged in the spring. The completed rooms are very comfortable and the price for a weekend or a week is most reasonable. The lodge will be started this month. Built on a hill will look over the outside arena. This is one of the best planned arenas I have seen after attending rodeos in Montana, Wyoming and Canada. There will be swimming, tennis, golf and fishing on the ranch which should make it a wonderful family vacation spot.

The ranch will run around 20 head of horses during the winter months and increase their herd for the summer months. There is a nice Western Tack shop where you can buy tack and grooming needs for your horse. The stock that I saw looked excellent and Bill Hickman assured me that they have good horses for the beginner as well as the experienced rider. A wrangler will ride with those taking trail rides. There will be sleigh rides in the winter and hayrides in the summer. During the summer and fall months there will be professional rodeos as well as planned events for the unprofessional riders and youngsters. Their camp grounds are well kept and ideally located. The lodge will serve meals to those who like to rough it with comfort.

It will be of interest to some of you that they will board your horse or pony if you plan to take a vacation or feel that your pasture is getting low. Guests are very welcome and Bill or Marvin will be glad to show you around. The next time you get in the car for that Sunday drive stop and call the Sky Valley Ranch.

Anyone having a question concerning ponies, may write to Pony Tales, c/o Avalanche and your questions will be answered in the column.

County Families Moving To Higher Brackets

(Special to the Avalanche)

New York — A survey of family earnings in Crawford County, with particular reference to the distribution of income, shows a steady movement upward into higher brackets.

The progress has been a general one. Many of those who were in the $4,000 to $7,000 bracket a few years ago are now to be found at the $7,000 to $10,000 level. Their former position has been taken over, in turn, by families who had been in the $2,500 to $4,000 group.

For the average local resident, as a result, it has meant a higher standard of living than before. And, for the business community, it has meant greatly increased consumer spending, especially for durable goods.

The findings are contained in a copyrighted report prepared by Sales Management. It lists, for every section of the United States, the portion of the population that falls within each income bracket.

In Crawford County, it shows, no less than 670 households, equivalent to 44.8 percent of the local population, had net cash incomes of $4,000 or more in the past year. This was after payment of their Federal and state taxes. It compares with 41.1 percent in 1961.

The rate of gain, which amounted to 9.0 percent was greater than the United States' 5.7 percent. It was 3.6 percent in the State of Michigan.

Since the study took into account only cash income, farm communities were not shown to their best advantage, as no allowance was made for the lower living costs on the farm.

The breakdown also reveals the way income was divided among other groups of families in Crawford County.

There were some 8.5 percent of the households with incomes of $7,000 to $10,000, 30.5 percent in the $4,000 to $7,000 bracket and 21.3 percent with incomes of $2,500 to $4,000. The remainder were above $10,000 or below $2,500.

Candidates' Wives

By Sandy Rathbun

Most Republican Candidates' wives would probably agree that criss-crossing the state in a bus for five days would be a good way to prepare for a rough crossing on the Queen Mary.

The wives experienced campaigning, some of them for the first time, first hand, in this unique way.

Their days were long, filled with meeting people and, in some cases, seeing unfamiliar parts of the state.

The days would begin at about 7:30 a.m. with breakfast meetings. They would then check out of the hotel and be ready to leave on the bus between 8:00 and 8:30.

The mornings were filled with coffee hours sponsored by Republican county, city or women's groups.

The coffee stops were all very similar. There would be handshaking, a little informal talk with those present to greet them, a sip of coffee and then good byes.

They would then hurry back to the bus and on their way to another gathering.

"Blitzing" shopping centers with their husbands' campaign material, giving impromptu speeches on college campuses and having their pictures taken by the press were all included in their daily schedule.

For many this week was a complete change from their usual daily routine but by the end of the week they were all very much at ease telling people about their husbands' qualifications.

Most of the women on the bus had children still in school. For this reason, only four of them were able to stay on the bus for the whole tour. While riding between stops, they would talk about their families and show pictures of them to the other mothers.

Their noon meals were eaten en route to another stop. Many of them said that during the week they had learned several things, not the least of them being how to eat chicken dinners on a moving bus and the best way to hold a cup of hot coffee without spilling it around a curve.

The announcement would come over the loud speaker system in the bus "In five minutes, we will be met at the county line by the sheriff's department and escorted to our next stop. We will arrive there in exactly 10 minutes."

The compact and combs would appear and the ladies would look as if they had just stepped off the pages of a fashion magazine rather than a bus.

The afternoons followed much the same pattern as the mornings except there were tea stops instead of coffee stops.

Their bus driver said that it was a mystery to him how they could go at such a pace and never seemingly run down.

"They had a tight schedule and were never more than 10 minutes late," he said.

The Democratic Candidates' wives began their caravan on Monday, October 19, with their schedules much the same as those of the "Republican Go Bus."

It does seem a shame that they couldn't all get together after the election and compare notes. Women being women, they could probably have an enjoyable time talking about their very similar experiences.

CARD OF THANKS

I would like to take this opportunity to thank Drs. Henig and Blaha, all the nurses, aids and Mercyettes for my good care while a patient in Mercy Hospital and for the nice gifts, cards and visits from friends. They were all very much appreciated.

The world's leading acoustical experts made the test.
The U. S. Auto Club certified the results: at 20 mph... at 40 mph... at 60 mph...

The 1965 Ford rides quieter than a Rolls-Royce!

Prior to the introduction of the 1965 Ford, the country's leading automotive writers drove the new models at Dearborn. Most of these experts remarked about the extraordinary quietness and smoothness of the Ford ride. An automotive writer, in Mechanics Illustrated, said, "If there is a quieter car made in this country, I haven't driven it."

Quiet Means Quality... Since quiet is a traditional measure of car quality, Ford engineers designed the '65 Ford for maximum quietness. To illustrate this quality achievement, Ford chose to make a documented test against the world's finest luxury car—Rolls-Royce.

Bolt, Beranek and Newman, Inc., world's leading acoustic consultants to government and industry, conducted the tests under supervision of the authoritative United States Auto Club. All cars were tuned to factory specifications.

The Result... The Fords proved to be slightly quieter at all speeds.

The official test report reads, in part: "At all moving speeds, on both courses, the Fords were quieter than the Rolls-Royces."

The Difference... The sound level difference, to be sure, is small—but it is there. At 60 miles an hour, Ford was actually 2.8 decibels* quieter than Rolls-Royce. At 40, Ford was 5.5 decibels* quieter. At 20, Ford was 4.9 decibels* quieter. However small these advantages over Rolls-Royce may be, they are significant evidence of quality—important to anyone buying a car in Ford's class.

Take A Test Drive... A key—and a warm welcome—await you at your Ford Dealer's. The key, incidentally, fits in the lock no matter which side is up—symbolic of the hundreds of advances you'll find in any Ford you road-test. Come in and see for yourself.

*Decibels are the universally recognized units for measuring the volume of sound.

The rustic setting of Hartwick Pines State Park provided the location for the Northland District Camporee — October 16-18, under the direction of William Gerber, Houghton Lake, District Camping and Activities Chairman, and Daniel Miller, Whittemore, newly appointed District Scout Executive.

The Nature theme, under the direction of Sandy MacBeath, Assistant Park Manager, and a former Eagle Scout of Roscommon, assisted by Jon Roethel, District Naturalist and LeRoy Borgeson, Park Naturalist, was the highlight of one-day's activities. Each took a group of boys on a tour of the Hartwick Museum, then followed with a very educational Nature Tour in the area, Saturday morning. Saturday afternoon, the boys reciprocated with a Conservation Good Turn, brushing out a stretch of trail leading from the Park Camp ground to Hartwick Lake, on the South side of M-93.

Following the Nature and Conservation program, the evening campfire presented a very interesting demonstration on Hunting and Gun safety by Conservation Officers, Russ Wright and Clarence Roberts of Grayling. Sandy MacBeath, then made up a Logging Camp Crew, using the boys present to fill out the jobs, from "Walk ing Boss", "Timekeeper", down thru the loggers, drivers, flunkies, to the cook and kitchen help. His efforts "ultimately led to most of the 82 boys present being selected to the logging crew. Campsite judging on Sunday morning completed activities, with camping convenience ideas being awarded
